

2025/7/17

Foreign Listing Department

Momentum Builds in Taiwan's Active ETF Market! Taiwan's 6th Active ETF Set to Launch: NEXT FUNDS – Nomura Taiwan 50 Enhanced Equity Active ETF will be listed on July 21, 2025

The beneficiary certificate of the "NEXT FUNDS – Nomura Taiwan 50 Enhanced Equity Active ETF" (stock code: 00985A), issued by Nomura Asset Management Taiwan Ltd., will be listed on July 21, 2025, and be engaged in margin purchases and short sales.

According to the fund's prospectus, the ETF primarily focuses on 50 large-cap leading Taiwanese companies with competitive advantages and growth momentum. It employs a combination of qualitative fundamental analysis and quantitative factor modeling to select stocks with strong profit potential, solid financial stability, reasonable valuations, and positive momentum trends. The ETF uses the "FTSE TWSE Taiwan 50 Total Return Index" as its performance benchmark. For complete details of the fund's investment strategy and associated risks, investors are advised to review the fund's prospectus.

TWSE states that including the above ETF, currently 189 ETFs are listed on the market—comprising 183 passive ETFs and 6 active ETF, with portfolios covering domestic and international exchange's equity, fixed income, commodity and etc., to favor investor's diverse appetite and asset allocation. However, each ETF has its specific risks. Thus, it is recommended to hold a diverse asset allocation and to read the prospectus thoroughly before investing.